Bodong's Update

Our Sixth Visit To Arunachal Pradesh, (11th to 20th of March 2010)

[posted on: 11 March, 2010]

As compare to our previous visit to Arunachal Pradesh, this was bit longer. The main aim for this visit was to go to some of the most remote villages like Tikshe and Zurphin villages

My visit to Nepal from 19th to 31st August 2009

[posted on: 30 Oct, 2009]

We reached Kathmandu, Nepal on the 19th of August 2009 from India. When we reached Pelmo Choeding Monastery, I met all our monks and my Belgian friends, Willy De May and his son Brecht De May. We were all very happy to see each other after a long time. All the monks are fine and they are having very good time with my Belgian friends.

Fourth Visit To Lumla in Arunachal Pradesh.(2nd to 7th May 2009)

[posted on: 10 June, 2009]

More importantly we visited three remote villages. These villages created a sad impression. Poor and primitive as they were with no sanitary facilities. In one house we saw a tiny baby lying on the floor, just looking after by two very small siblings.

THIRD VISIT TO LUMLA VILLAGE (17th to 22nd of October 2008)

[posted on: 10 June, 2009]

We visited for the third time in the month of October 2008. We stayed there for only five days. On the second day of this short visit, with the help of local person we visited Gispu village

Bodong Research and Publication Centre

His Holiness was very pleased and gave his advice and guidance. Bearing this in mind Geshe-la, Venerable Gedun Sonam and Chok Tenzin Monlam formed a research committee at Sarah and began the research work. (At that time, Geshe-la was the principal of the College for Higher Tibetan Studies (CHTS), Sarah, Dharamsala.) Later Geshe-la resigned from his post at Sarah. Then on 29th

Bodong tradition

The monastery of Bodong E was established in AD 1049 by Mudra Chenpo - a Kadampa master. It was one of the earliest monasteries of Tibet. It was offered to the great Indian master Pandita Sthirapala, alias Trilaksa (Bumtrak Sumpa). [\[more\]](#)

Director's message

Many great scholars including the great Bodong Chokley Namgyal have appeared to flourish the Bodong tradition. However, since 17th century the teachings of De-nyid ཇི་ལྷ་མཚན་པ་ began declining to just a point that only the mention of its name survived even before Tibet lost its independence in 1959.
